More Bombs Are Poured on Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers followed up massive strikes in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam with raids today against enemy positions in the southern half of the demilitarized zone and Laos.

The U.S. Command said it still had no assessment of damage caused by 200 strikes by Air Force tactical fighter-bombers Tuesday in an area from the DMZ 35 miles into North Vietnam. The planes bombed missile and gun sites and supply depots. Some sources said poor weather hampered an assessment.

North Vietnam claimed today that it downed two of the fighter-bombers and damaged many others, but this was immediately denied by the U.S. Command.

All of our aircraft were recovered safely and there was no damage," said Maj. Robert O'Brien.

The Radio Hanoi broadcast also said the planes bombed and strafed "a large number of civilian populated areas" in Quang Binh Province, just north of the DMZ. O'Brien said the strikes were directed against military targets.

In the followup raids, Air Force B52 bombers and fighter-bombers from bases in Thailand and Navy warplanes from a 7th Fleet carrier in the Tonkin Gulf launched heavy strikes against storage depots and rocket positions in the southern half of the DMZ and against the Ho Chi Minh trail supply network in eastern Laos.

Two 7th Fleet destroyers with five-inch guns also kept up their bombardment of North Vietnamese positions along the eastern flank of the DMZ.

The thrust of the B52 bombing strikes was switched back to Laos two days ago after South Vietnamese forces closed off operation Lam Son 810 below the western flank of the DMZ on the Vietnamese side of the Laotian border.

The South Vietnamese command reported an eighth day of fighting in the U Minh forest, in the Mekong Delta 145 miles southwest of Saigon.

Headquarters said infantrymen and rangers backed by U.S. helicopter gunships killed 21 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and captured seven weapons and a quantity of munitions in a series of clashes Tuesday. One South Vietnamese soldier was killed and six were wounded, a communique said.

Charges Filed at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Sharon Joyce Reneau, 31, of Doddridge (Miller County) was charged Tuesday with assault with intent to kill in connection with a gun battle Sept. 14 that left two persons dead and two other persons wounded.

Killed were Carl Reneau, 35, and Floyd Ward, 34, both of Doddridge. Mrs. Reneau and Mrs. Barbara Ward, 34, of Doddridge were wounded during the shooting.

The charge alleged that Mrs. Reneau shot Mrs. Ward in the stomach with a .16-gauge shotgun. David B. Reneau, 71, Carl Reneau's father, was charged last week with first-degree murder in connection with the shooting of Ward.

Sheriff Leslie Greer said a dispute between the Ward's and the Reneau's erupted into a gun fight at a general store near Doddridge.

Arkansas Appointed

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Miss Harriet E. Peel of El Dorado, head of Abilities Unlimited here, has been named to the state Advisory Committee for Rehabilitation Facilities Planning.

E. Russell Baxter, commissioner of the Arkansas State Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, appointed Miss Peel and said she will be asked to give advice and consultation to the department's planning staff.

Those With Low Numbers to Be Drafted

By JERRY BAULCH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Men with low draft numbers who have lost their deferments—primarily students graduated from college in June or dropouts—are expected to be the first called when the Selective Service resumes inductions.

Draft officials gave no indication when the first men would be called, but said men would be in uniform within two weeks after President Nixon signs the draft measure approved Tuesday by the Senate.

Nixon is expected to quickly sign the bill extending the Selective Service System.

The impact of other major provisions of the act will be slow to materialize, officials said. Included are the phasing of undergraduate deferments, the right of a man to present witnesses before his board, requiring a local or appeal board to have a quorum when hearing a registrant, and lowering the maximum length of service on boards from 25 to 20 years.

Pentagon officials have said that about 20,000 draftees would be needed during the remainder of the year, including a 16,000 July-August request left hanging when the draft authority expired June 30.

That would bring this year's total to less than 110,000, the smallest callup since 107,500 were drafted in 1964. When the draft was suspended the Pentagon had asked for 88,000—aside from the July-August 16,000 call—and the draft boards had provided 83,000.

Selective Service officials said nearly every qualified man with lottery no. 125 or lower would be called. Whether it will reach 140, the current limit for ordering preinduction exams, depends on the Pentagon manpower requirements.

The draft bill sets a limit of 130,000 inductions in the current fiscal year that began July 1 and 140,000 in the next fiscal year, both well above this year's expected callup.

The biggest change in the draft provided in the bill gives the president authority to phase out undergraduate student deferments. Students who entered college or trade school this summer or fall won't be eligible for deferments, nor will future undergraduates, officials said.

Hempstead to Share Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Displaced farm workers residing in 11 Arkansas counties will be offered a course in basic education and job placement services under a new federally sponsored program that received a $348,020 grant Tuesday.

The rural and Urban Community Development Services, Inc., with headquarters in Little Rock, will serve Monroe, Prairie, Chicot, Desha, Jefferson, Lonoke, Lincoln, Arkansas, Phillips and Hempstead counties.

High Food Prices in Arkansas Proved by a Check in Other Areas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard W. Longing, director of the state Commerce Department, said Tuesday that Arkansas-produced chickens and rice apparently can be bought cheaper in Denver, Amarillo and Oklahoma City than in Little Rock.

Longing revealed the differences in prices at a news conference that was called to announce the names of 18 businessmen, housewives and professional people who have been named by Gov. Dale Bumpers to inquire into why food in Arkansas apparently is among the highest-priced in the nation.

Longing said a staff member checked midweek prices in chain stores of each of the four cities and found that the per Commander Dee Coffee opened the meeting and Talbot Field Jr. introduced the speaker. Susan Reardon gave the invocation.

13.4 Million Broilers Produced Here in 1970, Litter Goes on Land

Hempstead County farmers used a total of 4,240 tons of commercial fertilizer from July 1, 1969, through June 30, 1970. This is quite a large tonnage, says W.R. Vandiver, associate county Extension agent, but does not reflect the overall picture on fertilizer use for the county.

The difference is the use of a tremendous amount of chicken litter on farms in the county, most of which is applied to pastures.

Hempstead County is listed as one of the major poultry producing counties in Southwest Arkansas. According to the Arkansas County Agents Poultry Survey, there were 13,426,000 broilers produced in 1970. Figuring the tonnage of litter per 1,000 broilers at 2.64 tons, this gives a total of 35,444 tons for the county.

Assuming that an average of 3 tons per acre is applied each year, this makes a total of 11,814 acres fertilized each year with litter.

This, of course, does not take into account the additional litter from the laying industry.

Fire Destroys School at Paris, Ark.

PARIS, Ark. (AP) — A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the cafeteria and home economics building at the Paris High School Tuesday night. It was the third major fire in the town in less than two weeks.

Officials said late Tuesday night that the possibility of arson was being investigated. The blaze was discovered about 7:45 p.m. and was brought under control about 9. No estimate of damage was available. No one was injured.

The brick and stucco structure was located a short distance from the main high school building, which was not damaged. An early-morning fire Sept. 13 destroyed the Paris Manufacturing Co. plant, which employed about 500 persons. The Paris Elementary School was destroyed by fire Saturday. Investigations into the cause of the first two fires was continuing.

Welfare Reform Bill Opposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Conference on Social Welfare Tuesday adopted resolutions opposing the welfare reform bill proposed by the House Ways and Means Committee and calling for the licensing of Social Workers.

The conference said the welfare reform bill was not an adequate response to the needs of the people.

The conference said the bill was discriminatory and would add to "administrative cost and confusion."

Vote Forced on Prayer in Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has forced a school prayer constitutional amendment out of committee, setting up a vote which may come in November.

The legislation is designed to negate a Supreme Court ruling against official prayers in schools.

The 218th signature was affixed Tuesday to a petition removing the bill from the Judiciary Committee, which had not acted on it.

Normally votes on measures discharged from committees are held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, but those will be holidays in October for Columbus Day and Veterans Day. Further discharge procedures make a vote unlikely until November.

The amendment would declare that nothing in the Constitution dealing with separation of church and state shall abridge the right of "persons lawfully assembled in any public building which is supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds, to participate in nondenominational prayer."

Seating Both Chinas to Undergo Test

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. proposal to seat both Chinas in the United Nations will undergo its first test today when the 25-nation Steering Committee meets to consider which items to recommend for the General Assembly's agenda.

Pro-Peking delegations oppose putting the U.S. resolution on the list, arguing that an Albanian proposal for seating mainland China and ousting the Nationalist Chinese should be the only such item included.

In all, 109 items have been proposed for the agenda. The United States is also planning to submit a resolution that would make the proposed ouster of Nationalist China an "important question," requiring a two-thirds vote for passage.

Under the American plan, the admission of Peking would require only a simple majority.

A vote on whether to put the U.S. plan on the agenda is expected in the committee today or Thursday, and in the full assembly on Friday. Observers see it as a preliminary indicator of how the assembly will vote on the resolutions themselves. Debate and voting on the proposals are expected to take up about a week and a half beginning Oct. 18.

The immediate object of each side is to get its China plan voted on first. Key diplomats predict the Steering Committee proceedings will go like this:

—Pro-Peking delegates will move that the committee recommend against the assembly's putting the U.S. item on the agenda, but fail in the attempt.

—The United States will propose that the committee recommend listing the two items together on the agenda for simultaneous debate.

—The pro-Peking delegates will hold out for listing and debating the items separately, which would mean their proposal would be debated first since it was proposed first.

—The most likely outcome is that the committee will compromise by recommending that the items be listed separately but debated simultaneously.

The Albanian resolution has 17 cosponsors in the General Assembly. The United States was said to have rounded up 17 cosponsors for its two-thirds rule proposal and 12 for its two-Chinas resolution. Early today, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said Japan would also cosponsor the two U.S. proposals.

First Report Since the Federal Freeze Shows Living Costs, Wages Up

Regards Huge Military Pay Hike Inconsistent With Current Freeze

Area Crops Are in Need of Moisture

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is reported to be opposing a congressional bill to allow a congressionally-approved $2.4-billion military pay raise to go into effect during the wage price freeze.

Although the council declined official comment, sources familiar with the group's thinking said it regards the huge military pay hike as inconsistent with the freeze.

Although the pay boost is more than twice what the Pentagon originally proposed, Defense officials said they favored putting it into effect on the congressionally-decreed date of Oct. 1.

The pay raise was included in a bill passed Tuesday extending the Selective Service System, and needs only President Nixon's signature before going into effect.

Recalling one rebuff by the council last month, Pentagon officials indicated they expect the council to reject implementing the higher military pay scales until after the freeze ends Nov. 13 and to rule out any retroactivity.

A council ruling to delay the pay increase almost certainly would be challenged by Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., of the House Armed Services Committee. Hebert has insisted there is no legal way for Nixon to put off the higher pay beyond Oct. 1.

The pay raise is intended to end reliance on the draft as the military moves toward its goal of all-volunteer armed forces.

Council sources acknowledged there are questions as to whether the Congressional pay action or the President's executive order imposing the wage-price freeze has precedence, or whether a new presidential order might be required.

Some Pentagon authorities noted that, if he chose, Nixon could overrule the council.

Temperatures Are Mild in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mild temperatures are expected to continue in Arkansas through Thursday.

Highs today were expected in the 70s with highs Thursday in the mid 60s to 70s.

The forecast also calls for scattered showers mainly west and south portions today with the shower activity ending from the northwest Thursday afternoon.

A cloud cover is expected to keep lows tonight in the 50s to low 60s.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. include a trace at Pine Bluff, .09 at Texarkana and .10 at El Dorado.

Some Figures Compiled Before Aug. 15

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today in its first consumer price report since President Nixon ordered the wage-price freeze that both living costs and wages rose in August.

Living costs increased three-tenths of one per cent, largely because of a sharp boost in gasoline prices, but the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the report did not reflect the price freeze because many of the figures were compiled before it was announced Aug. 15.

Wages of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose two cents hourly and $1.43 weekly to $129 per week. Purchasing power after deduction for price increases was up seven-tenths of one per cent for the month and 1.1 per cent from a year earlier and was only five-tenths of one per cent under the 1968 all-time high, the report said.

The rise in living costs, slightly larger than in July, pushed the government's consumer price index up to 122.2 per cent of its 1967 base of 100. The figure means that it cost $12.22 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases four years ago.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the August rise was four-tenths of one per cent, double the size of the July increase, but still well below the increases in May and June, the bureau said.

Grocery prices were unchanged in August, the first time since January there had been no increase.

In other major price categories, housing costs rose five-tenths of one per cent, transportation was up five-tenths, including a 3.7 per cent hike for gasoline, medical care increased five-tenths, and recreation rose one-tenth of one per cent.

Clothing prices declined three-tenths of one per cent but there was a rise of five-tenths of one per cent for shoes.

Court Asked to Acquit Two in Rape Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pros. Atty. Alex G. Streett of Russellville Tuesday asked the Arkansas Supreme Court to issue a writ of mandamus ordering Circuit Court Judge Russell C. Roberts to enter a judgment of acquittal of two defendants on rape charges.

Streett asked for the writ so the necessary steps could be taken to appeal the acquittals to the high court.

The prosecutor said that Streett had refused to enter a judgment of acquittal and had refused to grant an appeal to the Supreme Court, "effectively denying the state's right of appeal."

Streett said that the trial of the two defendants, Frankie J. Taylor and Eugene Lamb, raised legal questions that should be settled by an appeal to the Supreme Court, because the same questions might arise at future trials. He said that since the two had been acquitted, they cannot be tried on the same charge.

Senators Split on Draft Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was with the majority Tuesday as the Senate voted 55-30 to extend the draft law for two years.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., voted against the bill.

Tax on Until Deficit Shows Improvement

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally says the Nixon administration will keep the 10 percent import tax surcharge in effect until the balance of payments deficit shows signs of improvement.

Connally appeared Tuesday before a closed session of the House Ways and Means Committee and reports President Nixon would in mid-October unveil his proposals for what the administration calls Phase Two of the new economic program.

Nixon has not revealed what policy will be when the freeze ends Nov. 13.

Connally told newsmen after the House session, however, the surcharge would have to be kept in effect "pending further developments at least until they give us substantial hope that the payments can be balanced over a period of years, a relatively short period."

The latest consumer price index was to be announced today, and Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson scheduled a news conference to discuss behavior of price indexes during the freeze.

Nixon met Tuesday with representatives of consumer organizations, the sixth of his sessions with major economic groups.

After the meeting, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Nixon would probably go on nationwide radio and television to announce the measures that will form Phase 2.

Scott spoke of the tentative mid-October date, saying this would give everyone 30 days to prepare themselves for the next phase.

Representatives of consumer organizations told Nixon his post wage-price freeze stabilization program "better be fair" to wage earners and that big business should share the economic sacrifice, a spokesman said.

The groups urged controls on interests, profits and dividends and asked for full participation in the program so consumers "once more will not be left holding the bag."

Nixon took notes, listened carefully but did not indicate what he will propose for Phase II, said Don S. Willner, president of the Consumer Federation of America.

Connally indicated the administration would not fight a decision by the Ways and Means Committee to change Nixon's plan for a one-year 10 per cent tax write-off for industrial investments followed by a permanent 5 per cent figure to a flat 7 per cent write-off.

Critical of Stand by AIDC Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. W. F. Foster of England said Tuesday that members of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission unjustly criticized the state Highway Commission.

Foster, in a letter to Dan Roebuck, director of the AIDC, said the AIDC should stick to its own business of attracting industry and refrain from criticizing other state agencies.

Foster's letter was prompted by statements made at a meeting last Friday of the AIDC. Commission members said that poor roads were partly responsible for the lack of industry in South Arkansas. Commissioner L. E. Hurley of El Dorado said the Highway Commission had "set up a little kingdom of their own and to hell with everyone else."

"Both the AIDC and the Highway Department have done commendable jobs with the funds appropriated by the legislature through taxes," Foster said. "In the future, I think it would be wise if you did not use the Arkansas Highway Commission as a 'scapegoat.'"

He said the Highway Commission had always been willing to discuss problems of his county and district and suggested that AIDC members and others who have problems or criticism address themselves to Highway Commission members rather than the news media.

Suspect China Has Problems Politically

By LEWIS M. GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — China watchers here doubt that Chairman Mao is on his deathbed or even seriously ill, but they suspect Peking may have run into a lower-level political problem.

Mao Tse-tung, 77, was described as vigorously healthy when last viewed by outsiders at his Aug. 7 meeting with Burma's Premier Ne Win. Nothing to contradict this has been reported here since.

However, some French news stories, in part embroidering on reports from French correspondents in Peking, speculated Tuesday that some puzzling events in China indicate the red leader may be dead or gravely ill.

One apparent development is that for the first time since the Communists took power 22 years ago, they may not stage their traditional Oct. 1 national day parade at Tien An Men square.

The regime's leaders normally appear in public to review the parade. So cancellation of the big event, according to some speculation, means a leadership change may be underway.

The guess here is that neither Mao nor Chou En-lai, solidly employed as Premier and also in seeming good health, are about to lose their pre-eminence.

But further down the line, China specialists say, there may be an illness or other succession problem which is still unsettled, and which has forced Peking to put off a public showing of its leadership lineup.

One unexplained event fitted into this thesis is China's halt to air flights. Civilian planes were reported grounded for three days starting Sept. 12. Military craft are said to be still restricted.

Barring flights is one way of preventing one's political opponents from moving about the country fast to pick up support in a leadership struggle. The central Peking government has done this before.

Another reported item is the circulation inside China of some directives for war preparations. Since these have not been accompanied by military movements, Western watchers figure the directives are designed mainly for homefront political purposes.

The Chinese puzzle has always intrigued Washington. This time it is getting special attention because of the impact a political upheaval would have on President Nixon's planned trip to Peking.

G&F to Buy 7 Passenger Airplane

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission voted Tuesday to buy a new seven-passenger airplane for authorized travel of commissioners and employees.

The plane, which will cost $128,000, will replace a slightly smaller model the commission has used since 1965 for travel and the transportation of wildlife. The old plane will be sold.

In other action, the commission approved plans for the printing of a pamphlet for distribution to hunters that contains the state's hunting regulations. The pamphlets are to be printed by Nov. 1, when a large portion of the hunting season already will have been passed.

The commission authorized Director Andrew Hulsey to submit a bid on 4,000 acres of bottomland hardwood habitat in Arkansas County. Also approved was a $67,000 bid for the construction of a visitors center at the Lonoke fish hatchery.

Jim Wood, president of the Yell County Wildlife Federation, urged the commission to make a greater effort to increase the wildlife population of the Petit Jean River wildlife area.

Wood told the commission that it had not paid enough attention to the development of the area, which contains more than 13,000 acres. He said he would like to see improvement of the quail and dove habitat and development that would attract other game, such as ducks.

Commission personnel reported that $19,900 was budgeted in the last fiscal year for maintenance, development and seeding in the area and that another $18,000 was budgeted this year.

The cottonwood is the state tree of Kansas, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Aluminum Prices Are Boosted

NEW YORK (AP) — The scrambled price situation in the aluminum industry became even more jumbled today after one producer boosted its selling prices and another withdrew its published price.

For months the actual selling prices of primary aluminum and fabricated products have been quoted at various levels below the published prices because of slow demand and heavy supply.

Reynolds Metals Co. of Richmond, Va., the second biggest U.S. aluminum producer, said Tuesday it had put into effect previously announced price increases.

Reynolds had announced last July 21 increases in the selling prices of ingot and billet by one-half cent a pound and of fabricated products by 6 per cent, effective Sept. 1. The company said it was not changing from the industrywide published price of 29 cents a pound for ingot.

A Reynolds spokesman said Tuesday:

"We are quoting the prices announced earlier both as to primary aluminum and billet and to fabricated products. They are well within the limitations established by the Office of Emergency Preparedness in accordance with the President's order."

Concerning President Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze order, Reynolds said a provision of the order permits a seller to raise prices to the level prevailing May 25, 1970, if recent selling prices have been lower, as is the case with aluminum.

Consolidated Aluminum Corp. of Jackson, Tenn., announced it was withdrawing its published price of 29 cents a pound "because the disparity between the domestic producers published price and actual selling price has reached ridiculous proportions—in excess of 25 per cent in many cases."

"The current condition of the aluminum industry is critical," W.S. King, president of Consolidated said. "Drastic and immediate corrective measures are necessary to restore the health of the industry."

Aluminum Co. of America of Pittsburgh declined comment on the price actions. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. of Oakland, Calif., said it was studying the situation.

Kiwanis Club Speaker

DR. DAVE STEVENS
On a program arranged by Kiwanian Jim McKenzie, Dr. Stevens of Arkadelphia, Radiologist on the staffs of Hempstead Memorial and Branch General Hospital, was the guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Dr. Stevens stated that his first love is the practice of medicine and his specialty, Radiology, but that his second love is his hobby which is raising Thoroughbred Horses. It was on the latter subject that he spoke to the Kiwanis Club.

The Horse Industry is far more important today than we realize. Only a few years ago man was dependent upon the horse for transportation and motive power for his implements. As the machine displaced the horse man dismissed the horse from his mind, but actually it is more in the mind than in fact.

Due to differences in the outlook of Thoroughbred, Quarter Horse, Walking Horse, American Saddle Breeders, and perhaps other segments of the industry, the horse industry has not been promoted. The public is not aware of Horses as an industry. Recently proposed tax-legislation and the more recent VEE scare has brought the industry to public attention. An in-depth study by a research group has been started to make the public and the government aware of the horse industry. Some of the figures they have come up with are astounding. The information for Arkansas is not complete but there are 120,000 horses in Arkansas on which the Government spent $4.00 each for vaccination against VEE.

The recently organized Arkansas Thoroughbred Breeders Association lists 700 Brood Mares and 150 Stallions owned by their members.

The Horse Industry with all the allied industries such as feed, buildings, Veterinarians, Etc., is a multi-million dollar business.

At Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting Rev. Gaylon Decious and A. M. Hewitt were formally inducted into the Kiwanis Club. These two along with Bill Freeman, recently inducted member, were presented their membership kits by Larry Patterson, Chairman of the Membership Committee.

Kiwanian George Covington of Conway was the only guest at Tuesday's meeting.

A potluck bridge-luncheon will be held at the Hope Country Club Thursday, September 23 at 12 noon.

Friday, September 24
The Hope Junior Auxiliary Spaghetti Supper will be held at the Hope School cafeteria Friday, September 24 from 5 to 7 p.m. before the Hope-Fairview game. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12.

Girl Scout Troop 282 will have its first meeting of the year after school Friday, September 24 at the Little House in Fair Park. Mothers are invited to come with their scouts to begin the year in a fine way.

Paisley Mothers will have an important meeting Friday, September 24 at 1:30 in the school cafeteria. All mothers are asked to please attend.

Saturday, September 25
Game Night will be held at the Hope Country Club Saturday, September 25 at 7 p.m. Host couples are: Mr. and Mrs. Jim James, Bob Nason, Larry Redlich and David Still. Reservations must be made by Friday, September 24.

Sunday, September 26
District C of the Christian Churches of Arkansas will have an assembly at the First Christian Church of Hope on Sunday, September 26 from 3:15 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Worship services at 6:30 p.m. will include the installation of the new minister, the Rev. Gaylon Decious. A snack supper will precede the preaching. Registration will be $1 for adults and 25 cents for children and youth. The nursery will be open.

Miscellaneous Shower
Miss Katy Watson and Tommy Hampton, who are engaged to be married October 1, were honored with a miscellaneous shower on September 20 at the Heritage House. The bride-elect wore purple, and she had a white bridal corsage. Similar flowers were presented to the mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. James A. Watson and Mrs. Earl Hampton.

The 35 guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Howard Underwood and were introduced to the honored couple by Mrs. Harrison Ross. Many lovely and useful gifts were presented to the honorees, and as the group assembled for informal conversation, much sage advice was given.

In the dining room the table was centered with candles and greenery. Cake, punch and coffee were served. Mrs. Bob Neville and Mrs. Denville Ross poured, assisted by Mrs. F. J. Bruce. Also assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Nat Impson, Mrs. Sam Huckabee and Mrs. Don Embry.

Other hostesses who dispensed hospitality and made for an enjoyable evening were Mrs. Orsen Harris, Mrs. Jim Cumbie, Mrs. Earl Ross, Mrs. Connie Robbins, Mrs. Joe Barham, Mrs. Dwight Hampton and Mrs. Luna Underwood.

Shrine Club Meets
The Millwood Shrine Club had Ladies Night at the Nashville Masonic Hall on Monday, September 20. The 40 in attendance enjoyed a buffet supper and were entertained by the Ronnie Burke family of DeAnn. They included Mr. and Mrs. Burke, their two daughters and little son.

President Robert Lee Musgrove of Nashville announced the following new officers for the coming year: president, James Harold Knight of DeQueen; first vice-president, W.B. Holliday of Nashville; second vice-president, Bob Jones of Hope; secretary-treasurer, James C. Hodge of DeQueen. Since the November 1 meeting has been cancelled, these officers will be installed at the Christmas party December 9 in the Town and Country. Those from Hope attending the meeting in Nashville were Dr. Emmett Thompson, Mrs. Lucille Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mosier, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gibson announce the adoption of a baby girl, born August 31. She weighed 7 pounds, 3 ounces and has been named Nichole Carole. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O. A. McQueen of Emmet and Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Gibson of Bossier City.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huey of Shreveport announce the birth of a baby girl on September 21. Mrs. Huey is the former Margaret Ann Archer. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Archer, Jr. of Shreveport, and great-grandmother is Mrs. E. L. Archer of Hope.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McKenzie have returned to their home in Pensacola, Fla. after spending two weeks with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie and Mr. and Mrs. David Waddle.

Going to the Arkansas-Oklahoma State ball game in Little Rock last Saturday was a large group of people from Hope including Luther Hollamon, Mrs. Mary Jett Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaGrone, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Branch, Vincent Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hays, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kelly.

Roger McLelland remains a patient in the VA Hospital, Little Rock, but during recent days his visitors from home have included Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Foster, William Burnett, Horace Fullerton, J. C. Howell and Kenneth McMurrough.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Samples and two children have moved to Hope from Dallas. He is an announcer at KXAR, and the family is Baptist.

Mrs. Ruby Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards and family, all of Mena, have been visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Billy F. Brown, Mr. Brown, and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Metcalf are making their home at 421 S. Pine, after moving to Hope from Benton. They are Baptists, and he is a student at Red River Vo-Tech School. On the 5th Street side of this duplex are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wedge and two children, who have also moved from Benton. He is a guard at Young American Homes, and she is employed at the Dairy Queen.

Mrs. Cloyes Valentine left Monday by plane for her home in Concord, California after attending the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Rosea Ann Whitten and spending a few days with her Mother, Mrs. Denver Honea.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Network television entertainment on Tuesday nights is a cut above that of most other nights—several pretty good action series, a couple of variety hours, a new movie-for-TV and a doctor show.

Since no one can see all the shows, viewers must make some difficult decisions. A tough one involves the early evening when ABC's "Mod Squad" and NBC's "Ironside" are in head-on competition. This is deliberate programming by NBC—pitting its most popular police action show against ABC's most popular police show. The winner of the ratings contest is likely to be CBS' Glen Campbell, with whodunit fans split between two programs of the same genre opposite him.

The singer's second program of the new season looked a lot like his variety hours of last season—lots of singing, a little comedy and brief turns by the guest stars—the ubiquitous Bob Hope, the Smothers Brothers and Dionne Warwick.

It is a nice, easy program with unfailing good taste and handsome production values, but also is a little bland.

That dedicated, under-

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Nurses Are Honored

Those completing their eight months of hospital training were: Mrs. Lorene Hamilton, Washington, Arkansas, Miss Bertha Carrigan, Ozan, Arkansas, Mrs. Curle Mae Jones, Ozan, Arkansas, Mrs. Shirley Scott, Hope, Arkansas, Mrs. Ann Wisdom, Nashville, Arkansas, Miss Jayne Thompson, Nashville, Arkansas, and Mr. Paul Hollingsworth, Mena, Arkansas.

Marcus Welby, was busy on ABC at evening's end, mending the torn fabric of an 11-year-old orphan's life and patching up the deteriorating marriage of the couple who adopted her.

Robert Young continues to portray convincingly the concerned man of medicine—he was making a 2 a.m. house call in the episode—and the story was less drama than a lesson in human relations.

The show tugs at the heart, has a tendency to be sudsy—and should be good for a lot more seasons of television.

The new season has its first drop-out. "Quarterly Report," which had its premiere on NBC Sept. 9, will be a one-time program. The sponsor has pulled out of what was to be a series of four programs. Word around the network is that the underwriting company found the program too controversial.

The network news department plans to fill the periods reserved for the program in December, March and June with other actuality specials.

The initial program handled subjects ranging from the vote of 18-year-olds to the status of the death penalty in various states. While it did not seem to be very controversial, correspondents of the network appeared to have considerable editorial freedom in expressing viewpoints.

Future Food Is Called Deplorable

NEW YORK (AP) — Cooking experts and fancy food fans are predictably piqued at a nutritionist's suggestion that the menu of the future may be founded on such things as peanut butter and pizza.

"Deplorable," said one cooking teacher; "purgatory," said another. "A rash statement," commented a gourmet shop manager; "impossible," sneered a restaurant owner.

The suggestion came from Dr. George C. Graham of Johns Hopkins University. He predicted that modern technology would enable women to spend less time in the kitchen and to serve nutritional diets composed of "hand foods"—sandwiches, pizzas, rolls and pastry. The forerunners of the future, Graham contended, are hamburgers and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

A spot check of professional cooking experts, gourmet shops and other dealing in fancy foods showed reaction ranging from dismay to outrage.

Julia Child, whose syndicated show introduced thousands to the intricacies of haute cuisine, commented:

"What a deplorable, miserable situation to live in—peanut butter sandwiches and pizzas. Cooking is a creative art and people, particularly young people, are beginning to find it out."

Maurice Moore-Betty, a Briton who runs a cooking school in New York and who recently authored a cookbook, said of the suggestion: "My reaction is horror. I don't see why fine cooking should die out any more than people should give up painting or music."

What does he think of a diet of peanut butter and pizza? "It would be purgatory," said Moore-Betty. "I can't imagine anything worse."

One of the few exceptions to the general dismay was Graham Kerr, the "Galloping Gourmet" television chef with the casual approach to complicated recipes.

Colorado Has Chance at Ohio State

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Around the University of Tennessee this week the password is "War Eagle."

Normally, "War Eagle" is the battle cry of the Auburn Tigers—the origin is kind of fuzzy and you can hear a number of histories—who invade Knoxville on Saturday for an early season Southeastern Conference showdown with the Volunteers.

The Tigers are fifth and the Vols ninth in The Associated Press rankings. A year ago, Tennessee finished fourth and Auburn 10th, but the Tigers spoiled UT's otherwise perfect season with a 36-23 triumph.

"That loss has stuck in their craw," says Shug Jordan, Auburn's coach, "and you can't ever rule out the psychological, emotional side of football."

It will be Auburn's explosive Pat Sullivan—Terry Beasley's aerial attack against Tennessee's veteran defense. Armed with the knowledge that it's usually suicide to pick against the home team in the SEC ... AUBURN.

Colorado at Ohio State—the first-ever meeting between the Buffs and the Bucks pair two more Top Ten teams, No. 6 Ohio State and No. 10 Colorado. New quarterbacks have been impressive, Don Lamka for Ohio and Ken Johnson and Joe Duenas for Colorado. The Buffs beat LSU in Baton Rouge so they shouldn't be awed by ... OHIO STATE.

Notre Dame at Purdue—the Irish closed out the 1960s with three straight losses to Purdue and dropped seven of 10 to the Boilermakers during that decade. In addition, the Irish haven't won at Purdue in the last four tries. However, this is the '70s, as last year's 48-0 rout proved. NOTRE DAME.

Texas Tech at Texas—the Red Raiders thought this was their year, but the offense hasn't been able to get untracked against Tulane or New Mexico. Texas could be in trouble if quarterback Eddie Phillips, on crutches early in the week with an injured toe, is sidelined. TEXAS.

UCLA at Michigan—Last week, Texas ripped UCLA for 428 yards on the ground while Michigan churned out 485 against Virginia. It never rains but it pours for Pepper Rodgers. MICHIGAN.

Alabama at Florida—What's wrong with the Gators? "Fumbles, interceptions and missed tackles," says Coach Doug Dickey. With revenge in mind after last year's 46-15 battering, here's the upset special of the week. FLORIDA.

Oklahoma at Pitt—The Sooners were bumped from the Top Ten despite a 30-0 trouncing of Southern Methodist and they'll be hoping mad to get back in. They're two-touchdown favorites and that could be a little high if Pitt's opening win over UCLA was not fluke. In a close one ... OKLAHOMA.

Oregon at Stanford—The Ducks already have lost at Nebraska and start a three-week trek to Stanford, Texas and Southern Cal. Home will look good after that journey. STANFORD looks good this week.

Texas Christian at Washington—Look for aerial fireworks with TCU's Steve Judy and UW's Sonny Sixkiller on the firing line. The scoreboard may never be the same. WASHINGTON.

Louisiana State at Wisconsin—Tommy Casanova, LSU's All-American cornerback, has a pulled muscle and may not play. That would be good news for Wisconsin's already strong passing game. The Tigers have a rifle arm of their own in Bert Jones. Shakily ... LSU.

Rutgers at Princeton—The 62nd meeting of the teams that started this whole madness back in 1963. The Tigers have an experienced team for the first time since they junked the single wing and switched to the T-Formation in 1969. They also have the No. 3 running back of 1970, Hank Bjorklund. PRINCETON.

Nelson Back With the Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Walter Nelson, Arkansas' No. 2 quarterback, practiced in full pads with the Razorbacks for the first time Tuesday since he fractured an ankle during the summer.

Coach Frank Broyles said the passing of Nelson and quarterbacks Joe Ferguson and John Jenkins was particularly sharp. "All three threw very well," said Broyles. "The return of Nelson was particularly encouraging."

Broyles said after a two-hour workout that he was pleased with progress being made by the Porkers. He said the team practiced with more confidence than had been exhibited this year.

Another injured Razorback, fullback Russ Garber, also pleased Broyles Tuesday. Garber drilled in a specially padded shoe to protect his injured right big toe.

The captains named Tuesday for Saturday's game with Tulsa were Garber, Bill McClard and David Hogue.

Sooner Is Lineman of Week

By RON JENKINS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — They call him "Sugar Bear" and he was a tumbling standout in high school. But for the Oklahoma football team, the only tumbling action big defensive end Raymond Hamilton is seeing is from the ground up.

Hamilton spent a lot of time last Saturday standing over Southern Methodist ball carriers in No. 11 ranked Oklahoma's 30-0 victory.

The 6-foot-2, 237-pound junior made seven unassisted tackles threw SMU backs three times for losses totaling 28 yards.

For his efforts, Hamilton was named the Associated Press national college football lineman of the week.

Sooners defensive coach Larry Lacewell figures the Oklahoma City junior should make All-America this year. "He's by far the best defensive end I've ever coached. He's a great player who has worked hard to be great."

As a sophomore, Hamilton was the leading Sooner pass rusher. Hamilton, who raided enemy backfields for 70 minus yards in 1970, runs the 40-yard dash in 4.8 seconds.

"He's just picking up where he left off last year," Lacewell said of Hamilton's performance against SMU. "I think he was the most underrated football player in the Big Eight Conference last year."

"He can do it all. He can rush the passer and has great pursuit of the football—an uncanny ability to sense what the play is."

Hamilton and his coaches agree that his tumbling ability has enhanced his play on the

Texarkana Moves Up in Grid Poll

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fort Smith Northside continues as a solid choice for the top spot in The Associated Press high school football poll.

The Grizzlies pushed their record to 3-0 last week with a 9-0 victory over El Dorado. Northside, No. 1 since the pre-season poll, was named first on 12 of the 19 ballots cast by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

Little Rock Catholic and Hot Springs ranked 2-3 for the second week in a row.

Little Rock Hall was fourth followed by Forrest City, Texarkana, Stuttgart, Rogers, Little Rock McClellan and North Little Rock.

Hall, fifth last week, moved up a notch on the basis of its 13-7 victory over McClellan. Forrest City, which beat Jacksonville for its third straight victory, jumped from seventh to fifth.

Texarkana, ninth last week, moved up after beating Pine Bluff 55-35. Stuttgart leaped from 10th to seventh after crushing Marion 40-0.

Rogers, idle last week, remained eighth. McClellan dropped from fourth to ninth and North Little Rock moved into the top 10 for the first time after winning its third straight game.

In Class AA, Stuttgart replaced Rogers as the top-ranked team. Rogers dropped to second and Russellville continued third.

McCrory, 3-0 for the season, continues to head the Class A rankings. Marked Tree and Nashville are still 2-3.

Dierks moved up from third to first in the Class B rankings after Magnet Cove was tied by Bryant. Gillett continued second and Danville took over the No. 3 spot.

Here are the top 10 teams in The Associated Press high school football poll with first-place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (12) (3-0) 181
2. LR Catholic (5) (2-0) 171
3. Hot Springs (2) (3-0) 151
4. LR Hall (2-1) 120
5. Forrest City (3-0) 96
6. Texarkana (3-0) 86
7. Stuttgart (2-1) 68
8. Rogers (2-0) 55
9. LR McClellan (2-1) 51
10. North Little Rock (3-0) 51

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Benton, Conway, El Dorado, LR Central, LR Parkview and Russellville.

football field. "Raymond has the quickest feet of any lineman I've seen," says head coach Chuck Fairbanks.

Illustrating his speed was Hamilton's 53-yard touchdown dash against Oklahoma State last year after intercepting a pass. He was playing linebacker then.

Hamilton received the news of his honor with surprise. "When coach (Lacewell) told me about it, I didn't believe it at first. It's a great honor and I hope it was no fluke."

"Sugar Bear" says he has carried that nickname ever since someone pinned it on him in junior high school. "It's kind of stuck with me and I like it all right. I get a lot of variations on it."

Dodgers and Giants Like Broken Record

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers continue to play like broken records, spinning around in circles and going nowhere very fast.

It is possible the Atlanta Braves can still waltz away with the National League's Western title? Well, it's highly unlikely—but not impossible—considering the way the Giants and Dodgers have been playing lately.

The Giants held onto a 1½-game lead over the Dodgers in the wild, wild West despite themselves as they lost their 13th game in the last 16, a 3-1 decision to the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

The Dodgers also continued their inept play as they dropped a 9-3 contest to the Cincinnati Reds for their fifth loss in seven games.

The third-place Braves, meanwhile, kept their dim title hopes alive with a 5-2 victory over the San Diego Padres. The Braves moved within six games of San Francisco and in order to win the West, must take all their remaining six contests while hoping the Giants lose their last eight and the Dodgers slump badly.

Los Angeles Manager Walt Alton was rock-steady despite the latest loss.

"We're going to beat the Giants," said Alton, "I don't care what the margin is—one game or six. We'll still beat 'em."

San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox, meanwhile, wasn't so confident: "We're just not hitting the ball, period."

In another top National League game, the St. Louis Cardinals beat Pittsburgh 6-4 as the Pirates failed for the second time to nail the Eastern Division pennant. The Pirates still need just one victory to clinch the title.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 3-0 and the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Montreal Expos 5-4 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader before losing the nightcap 4-3.

Rookie catcher Larry Howard was the difference for Houston, lashing a two-run, tie-breaking homer in the seventh inning off San Francisco starter John Cumberland.

The ball cleared the 406-foot marker in center field. "I tried to get it inside," said Cumberland, "but I missed by six inches and that was the ball game."

"That guy really clobbered the ball good," said Fox, whose own team hasn't been hitting the ball too well. The Giants have averaged only five hits per game in the last 17 outings.

Cincinnati's Lee May murdered Los Angeles with a home run and double, good for five runs batted in.

"There's nothing cheap about those Cincinnati runs," said Alton, "they hit us far too good. When you get behind 9-0, there's not much you can do."

May's three-run homer, his 38th clout of the season, capped a four-run fifth inning and then the brawny first baseman knocked in two more with a double in a three-run sixth.

Hank Aaron's 46th home run, a career high, plus a two-run shot by Darrell Evans and a solo blast by Ralph Garr led Atlanta over San Diego.

Aaron's first-inning homer, which put the Braves in front 1-0, erased a previous high of 45 with the old Milwaukee Braves in 1962. Evans unloaded a two-run shot in the second and Garr hit a homer in the third.

Jose Cruz broke a tie with a two-run homer in the seventh as St. Louis downed Pittsburgh.

Rookie Burt Hooton pitched a two-hitter and Ron Santo ripped his 300th career homer as Chicago beat New York. Pitcher Billy Champion capped a five-run seventh with a two-run double as Philadelphia beat Montreal in the opener and Bob Bailey knocked in four runs to bring the Expos the second-game victory.

struck out five as Chicago blanked the New York Mets 3-0. HITTING — Lee May, Reds, drove in five runs with a homer and a double, leading Cincinnati to a 9-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

TWO NATIONAL League managers who will probably be glad to see the end of this stormy season are Leo Durocher, of the Chicago Cubs, and Gil Hodges of the New York Mets. Both managers have had to contend with disappointing performances and dissension from their players and criticism from the press. Their only consolation is that neither of them had Alex Johnson on his team this season.

Number 3 Is Magic for Baltimore

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Baltimore Orioles win the American League's East Division title for the third straight year—and their clinching number now has been reduced to three—it is likely they will pitch Dave McNally against Oakland's fighting West Division champions and A's ace Vida Blue in the league's opening playoff game Oct. 2 at Baltimore.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver indicated his preference toward using McNally in the first playoff game after the veteran left-hander tamed the New York Yankees 5-0 on five hits Tuesday night for this 20th victory of the season.

McNally, the winningest pitcher in Oriole history with 134 victories, is the first American Leaguer to win at least 20 games in four consecutive seasons since the Yanks' Red Ruffing did it from 1936-39. And the Orioles' southpaw did it this year despite missing 38 days of the season because of an inflamed muscle in his pitching arm.

The Orioles, victory, coupled with Detroit's 3-2 10-inning loss to Boston reduced Baltimore's title-clinching number to three over the second-place Tigers.

The Orioles lead Detroit by 7½ games. They have eight games remaining to the Tigers, seven.

Meanwhile, Oakland, having already wrapped up the West title, lost a fight-marred two-night doubleheader with Chicago, the White Sox winning the opener 5-1 and the second game 6-2.

The Washington Senators trounced Cleveland 9-1 before the league's owners approved the moving of their franchise to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Kansas City defeated California 6-2 and Milwaukee downed Minnesota 4-2.

McNally, 20-5, moved the Orioles closer toward clinching the East championship by shacking the Yankees on seven strikeouts and only one walk Paul Balair's fourth-inning homer gave the Orioles an early lead.

They added three runs in the eighth on Andy Etchebarren's bases-loaded single and Dave Johnson's steal of home.

Afterward, Weaver hinted that he would use McNally in the first playoff game instead of his other left-handed starter, 19-game winner Mike Cuellar, who has not been effective recently. Weaver, however, did emphasize that he preferred to open with a left-hander in an attempt to neutralize Oakland's left-handed hitting Reggie Jackson, and possibly get southpaw swingers Rick Monday and Mike Epstein out of the A's lineup, provided Manager Dick Williams continues his platooning system.

Boston dimmed Detroit's slim title hopes, edging the Tigers on Luis Aparicio's run-scoring single in the 10th. The hit scored rookie Cecil Cooper, who had led off the inning with a pinch single and was sacrificed to second.

The Tigers had tied the score 2-2 in the ninth on two-out pinch singles by Kevin Collins and Tony Taylor. Jim Lonborg went the distance for Boston and scattered nine hits.

The fight in the Oakland-Chicago doubleheader erupted with one out in the White Sox' ninth. Actually, it was triggered when Chicago pitcher Bart Johnson hit the A's Mike Epstein with a

Bobcats Work Hard for Fairview

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Yesterday afternoon the Hope Bobcats practiced for about three hours, going different phases of their game plan for Fridays contest.

No injuries have been reported lately since the return of Wade Harris and Bubba Powers to the starting lineups.

Practicing both offense and defense, the session was termed as good, with the Cats showing a good attitude with a lot of hustle, while working out in full pads under a cloudy sky, which is perfect weather for football.

Hope's line has been practicing on their blocking with the Passing game being polished up on some more. Also the running game, which has shown up well in recent games is undergoing more work.

Hope goes into the game with a 2-1 mark while Fairview is holding an 0-3 slate, although records don't necessarily mean anything in the Hope-Fairview contests. The Cardinals are always tough against the Bobcats and this year should be no different.

Tomorrow night the Bobkittens host Arkadelphia's Badgers in what should be a real exciting contest. Hopes last win over Arkadelphia was in 1969 after being shutout, 8-0, last year. However, this year may prove different as the Kittens have a real fine defensive unit with the offense improving every game.

Friday night the Ladies Junior Auxiliary will hold their annual spaghetti supper in the high school cafeteria from five to seven o'clock. Admission is 1.50 for adults and .75 for children.

Trevino Is Favored at Robinson

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — Super Mex Lee Trevino hasn't added to his money total in almost two months but he's back in shape and the solid favorite against a watered-down field in the $100,000 Robinson Open Golf Tournament that starts Thursday.

"Oh, you know me," Trevino chuckled before a practice round today over the 6,585 yard, par 71 Crawford County Country Club course. "I've got to play a lot before I'm going to do anything."

The squat, swarty 31-year-old stunned the golfing world with a never-before-accomplished sweep of the American-Canadian-British Open titles two months ago.

But since then has come a slump, vacation, emergency operation, time off, slow recovery.

He pushed his money total to $197,219 with a victory in the Canadian Open, more than two months ago. He won the British Open the next week, but that prize doesn't count on his money winning total.

He missed a couple of cuts, had that emergency appendectomy, came back, missed some more cuts, won $5,000 in the World Series of Golf. But that doesn't count either. He collected $1,000 last week in the Ryder Cup victory against Great Britain—but that doesn't count either.

But Trevino, weak and wobbly from the after effects of the operation, served notice he's ready to go again in his performance against Britain's best in the Ryder Cup competition last week.

He played 36 holes both of the last two days, scored three victories in two days and stamped himself as the man to beat for the $20,000 first prize in this growing event in a village in eastern Illinois. The field is far from the strongest.

Besides Trevino, there are only two other members of the 12 man U.S. Ryder Cup team on hand—J. C. Snead and Mason Rudolph.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Billy Casper and Masters champion Charles Coody all are taking the week off for one reason or another.

Bulaich Is Pro Player of Week

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I guess that's my best game since the eighth grade," said a weary Norm Bulaich of the Baltimore Colts.

His game—a Colts' single-game record 198 yards on the ground despite a muddy field, a squadron of New York Jets defenders, a cracked helmet and a sprained ankle—was more than enough to win him recognition today as Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 6-foot-1, 218-pound second-year running back from Texas Christian beat out quarterbacks Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants and Virgil Carter of the Cincinnati Bengals and fullback Calvin Hill of the Dallas Cowboys in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The highlight of Bulaich's performance in Sunday's 22-0 triumph over the Jets came in the third quarter when he swept around right end and churned 67 yards for a touchdown.

"The offensive line just did a job on the Jets," he said, underplaying his performance. "They open the holes—I just follow them. Easy."

It hasn't been easy at times for "Boo," as his teammates call him. The 24-year-old native of LaMarque, Tex., plagued by injuries early in his rookie year, didn't really come into his own until the playoffs although he wound up as the Colts' No. 1 rusher with 426

Where Do You Think You're Going?

Bob Hayes Gets Nod on Offense

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Four years ago Tom Hayes was ending a two-year hitch in the Army, hoping to get a job but never dreaming he would some day start a National Football League game.

"This whole thing has been a complete surprise," Hayes said Tuesday night. "It's like a dream come true."

Hayes was given a starting assignment with the Atlanta Falcons when regular cornerback Rudy Redmond was sidelined with a pulled stomach muscle.

If the 197-pound sixth-round draft choice from San Diego State continues to perform as he did in his pro debut against San Francisco Sunday, Redmond will have trouble returning to the lineup.

Hayes intercepted two passes, recovered a game-clinching fumble and triggered a late-minute brawl in which players from both sides began swinging fists in Atlanta's 20-17 upset victory.

For his performance, Hayes was named Tuesday as The Associated Press NFL Defensive Player of the Week.

"I never dreamed I'd get to start," said Hayes, "and winning this honor is just too good to be true."

"I'm sure they were going to try to pick his bones," said Falcon Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

John Brodie, the NFC's Most Valuable Player in 1970, aimed his first pass of the game into Hayes' territory. The Atlanta rookie stepped in front of the receiver, intercepted and streaked 27 yards to the 49er side of the field, Hayes said, grinning. "That was not a judicious decision."

His other interception came in the end zone, one play after his pass interference infraction had given San Francisco a first down on the Falcon six. Brodie gave up only 10 interceptions during the entire 1970 season.

Hayes triggered the melee in the final 40 seconds when he heaved the football at a San Francisco player whom he accused of striking a blow after the whistle.

"Sure I was upset and I don't fault myself for throwing the ball at the guy, but I question throwing it at him on the 49er side of the field," Hayes said, grinning. "That was not a judicious decision."

Only the female mosquito bites.

Senators Are Going to Dallas

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Owner Bob Short and his financially troubled Washington Senators are headed for the lush Dallas-Fort Worth area and the nation's capital faces a lack of major league baseball for the first year since 1901.

Short who claims to have lost $3 million since he purchased the club for a reported $9.4 million in 1968, won his fight to move late Tuesday night as American League owners voted 10-2 in his favor, with only the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox opposed.

League President Joe Cronin, who as a young player-manager led Washington to its last pennant in 1933, announced the action after a marathon meeting of owners, their top aides, attorneys and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The transfer marked the second time in a decade that Washington has been voted out of baseball.

However, after the franchise moved to Minnesota in 1961, the league found another club for the capital by expanding.

"Being an old Washington ballplayer, I feel very sad there was no other alternative, but it is with pleasure we welcome Dallas-Fort Worth," Cronin said more than 13 hours after the meeting went behind closed doors.

Cronin said the transfer was conditional, but that merely appeared to be a formality.

The conditions include expansion of Turnpike Stadium in Arlington, between Dallas and Fort Worth, in the next two years.

Those conditions were accepted by the American League.

In approving the franchise shift, the first since Charles O. Finley moved his Athletics from Kansas City to Oakland in 1968, the league owners rejected two Washington offers to purchase the Senators.

One by a group represented by public relations man Edward Kelly Jr., was rejected quickly.

A group headed by Washington Board of Trade President Joseph Danzansky made a strong pitch to buy.

The supermarket chain operator and lawyer made an hour-long presentation of offering $7.9 million for 80 per cent of the Senators' stock.

Danzansky said he had been approached by a person who "indicated that if we offered what Mr. Short had paid for the club, the league would be hard put to turn us down."

Cronin and Kuhn agreed that Danzansky had "made a fine offer, but their capitalization was thin."

Danzansky questioned the league's idea of his plan for financing and said he believed the club owners had come to the meeting "with their minds made up."

Soph Is Top College Back of Week

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Bobby Moore arrived on the Oregon campus in 1968 he was hailed by Coach Jerry Willisville first in school division and overall.

Frei as "the finest athlete we have ever recruited." Before his first varsity season a national magazine labeled him the "top sophomore back in the country."

In his first varsity game he set an Oregon record by catching three touchdown passes.

Then things got better. The 6-foot-2, 212-pound tailback-he played flanker as a soph-reached his peak last Saturday in a 36-29 victory over Utah. He carried the ball 27 times for a school record 249 yards and caught three passes for 89 more, including one of 34 yards for a touchdown. His rushing set up for other Oregon touchdowns.

For that performance, the senior from Tacoma, Wash., was named national college Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

But records are nothing new to Moore. Before Saturday's show, he held Oregon game records of 20 points (twice), three TD receptions (twice) and 38 rushing attempts; season marks of 15 touchdowns, 10 TD receptions, 92 points, 203 carries and 924 rushing yards; and career standards of 26 touchdowns, 166 points and 15 touchdowns catches.

Before too many more games go by he should break Jim Shanley's career rushing total of 1,828 yards and perhaps Bob Newland's mark of 125 career receptions. As a sophomore, Moore also set a record by snagging 54 passes, but Newland erased that last season.

The only thing that kept Moore from reaching the 1,000-yard mark in rushing last year was the fact that he missed one game and nearly all of another. This season, with 302 yards in two games, he seems a cinch.

In winning Back of the Week honors, Moore beat out Larry Russell, Wake Forest quarterback; Mac Bowman, VMI running back; Ernie Jackson, Duke defensive back; Reid Lamport, Bowling Green quarterback; Joe Duena, Colorado quarterback; Lydell Mitchell, Penn State running back and Steve Goehl, Northern Illinois running back.

Players Are Against Pro Cage Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Players of the National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association Players Association say their members oppose the merger of the two pro basketball leagues.

Oscar Robertson of the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks and Zelmo Beaty of the ABA's Utah Stars told Congress Tuesday they will fight the merger bill until all players are allowed to negotiate contracts freely.

Beaty's testimony before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee contradicted a statement made Monday by Larry Jones of the ABA's Miami Floridians, who said "The ABA Players Association supports the legislation."

Robertson said NBA players are solidly against a system that allows them to negotiate with only one team.

A star with the Cincinnati Royals for 10 years until traded to the Bucks last year, Robertson said he plans to retire in 1973 when his current contract ends.

"I do not stand to benefit financially by having the leagues continue to compete for my services," he said, "but I do stand to benefit by seeing that the 300-some-odd ballplayers in professional basketball have an opportunity to be treated as people."

Beaty said competitive bidding boosted his salary five-fold when he switched from the NBA's Atlanta Hawks to the Stars.

Fight Looms on Military Hardware

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — After a long, long debate, the Senate has decided to extend the draft, but another war of words looms over the controversial $21 billion bill for military hardware.

Behind the torrent of words, the talk of young men or manned bombers, pay raises or payoffs, the issue remains the same—how to force an end to U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who spearheaded the unsuccessful drive to call for a total withdrawal from Indochina in nine months provided that all American POWs are released, plans to try again, perhaps next week, sources said.

In the final version of the draft bill sent to President Nixon Tuesday, Mansfield's watered down amendment calls on the President to negotiate a total withdrawal from Indochina "at the earliest practicable date."

But one Senate war critic, Democrat Mike Gravel of Alaska, said the vote Tuesday means any further effort this year to set a deadline for withdrawal will be futile.

"I don't think there is any real clout or muscle or backbone in the Senate this year to do anything," he told reporters.

He noted conferees on the military procurement bill are senior members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees, likely to be the same as those who watered down the earlier Mansfield Amendment after the House rejected it.

"When it comes down the real crunch," Gravel said, "we'll have a recurrence of what went on today."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and floor manager of both the draft and procurement measures, predicted the debate on the latter would take quite a while too.

In the past two years, consideration of the measure, which authorizes funds for major weapons systems and research and development, has lasted well over a month.

The long draft debate, which began in the Senate May 5, came to a surprisingly swift end.

Senate leaders had predicted it would take at least two tries to produce the two-thirds needed to invoke cloture and limit debate on the draft measure.

But the vote was 61 to 30, giving supporters of the draft bill victory by a single vote.

Then, as Gravel and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., conferred on the floor on whether to fight further, the Senate went promptly into a second vote—on the draft measure itself—and passed it 55 to 30.

The action sent the measure

Ouachita Back Leads Offensively

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Johnny Baker of Ouachita Baptist University leads the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference in rushing and total offense with 265 yards in two games. He is averaging 6.8 yards a carry.

Phil Fisher of Arkansas Tech is the passing leader with 14 completions in 25 attempts for 210 yards and three touchdowns. Fisher's teammate, Rick Thone, is the leading receiver with nine catches for 142 yards and two touchdowns.

Alan Dixon of Harding is the top scorer in the conference with 24 points on four touchdowns.

to the White House and opened the way for early resumption of draft inductions, suspended when the old law ran out on June 30.

The new bill, expected to be signed promptly by President Nixon, extends the draft until June 30, 1973; gives members of the military a $2.4 billion pay raise; limits draft calls to 130,000 this year and 140,000 next year; and increases the procedural rights of draftees before their local boards.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said he plans to introduce separate legislation adding $380 million in pay for lower grades.

Stennis says he will go along but there has been no comment from Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House committee, who favors increases in allowances.

The quick vote Tuesday left both sides in the military procurement debate unprepared. As a result, the Senate spent much of Tuesday afternoon in recess while leaders sought to set voting times for amendments to the measure.

Two amendments were scheduled for action today. One, by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., would remove a provision aimed at having the United States import chrome ore from Rhodesia in violation of the United Nations trade embargo.

And Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., authorize a five-year advance study of future U.S. military needs by the Armed Services committees.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who is quarterbacking efforts to cut the $21 billion measure, is preparing amendments aimed at a variety of major weapons projects—including the B1 manned bomber, the C5A super transport and the F14 Navy fighter.

In an opening speech Tuesday, he denounced recent reports about supersonic Soviet bomber developments as "more designed to stampede the Congress into buying a stable full of B1s than to provide impartial information on the Soviet military posture."

He called for "consigning the supersonic bomber gap to the graveyard of defunct and disproved weapons scares."

Jury Panel Deliberates Medina Case

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The weeks of testimony over, only the summation and the judge's charge remain before a panel of five officers begins deliberating the fate of Capt. Ernest L. Medina.

The military judge, Col. Kenneth A. Howard, said he would charge the jury today after opposing lawyers give their final arguments.

The jurors, all Vietnam veterans, will weigh one count of premeditated murder against the 35-year-old Medina, who commanded Charlie Company during an infantry sweep through My Lai March 16, 1968, in which innocent civilians were slain by U.S. troops.

The Montrose, Colo., officer faces life imprisonment if convicted.

He is also charged with involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of 100 My Lai civilians and two counts of assault for firing two shots over the head of a Viet Cong suspect during interrogation. The involuntary manslaughter charge carries a maximum sentence of three years in prison.

Lt. William L. Calley Jr. remains the only person held responsible in the My Lai massacre. Calley, 28, one of Medina's platoon leaders, was convicted last March of murdering 22 civilians at My Lai. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the sentence was cut to 20 years in a review process still under way.

On the single charge facing him, Medina testified he shot a woman lying on a rice paddy because he saw her move and thought she had a hand grenade. The judge agreed Tuesday that he would instruct the jury to acquit Medina of the murder charge if the jury decides that the captain acted out of fear for his life.

The Army charges Medina was responsible for the deaths of the 100 civilians because he knew his troops were killing but chose not to intervene.

The defense contended that Medina did not know innocent civilians were being killed, and Medina testified that when he became aware of the killing, he issued a cease-fire order.

Howard met with lawyers Tuesday in the absence of the jury to hear their suggestions on the charge he will present to the panel.

Zoo Porpoises to Florida

CHICAGO (AP) — Vicky, Salty, Angie and Robby have left for a winter vacation in Florida. They are porpoises in the Brookfield Zoo.

They were shipped with meticulous care Tuesday in a chartered DC3 for a stay at Marine Mammals Enterprises of Key Largo. While they are gone, their Brookfield Zoo pool will be repaired and resurfaced.

The porpoises were accompanied by their senior trainer, Herman Buttrick, and Dr. Weaver Williamson, the zoo's associate director of health and medical care.

Reports That China's Mao Is Dead or Ill Discounted by Japs

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese correspondents in Peking today dampened speculation that Mao Tse-tung is dead or ill, but French newspapers kept up their conjecture that events of major importance are taking place in Communist China.

Part of the conjecture was based on reports that the traditional Oct. 1 National Day parade in Peking had been canceled in favor of local celebrations. However, other reports said the Peking parade would take place.

A spokesman for the Chinese Embassy in Paris said Mao is "in excellent health." He said the National Day parade was canceled but that this was

Government Rests Case in Selb Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The government rested its case Tuesday in the trial of Harry C. Bass Jr. of St. Louis, president of the Selb Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge, who is charged with conspiring to conceal defects in parts made by Selb for the F-111 fighter-bomber.

The government called 23 witnesses during the first seven days of the trial.

Selb made longerons and the upper and lower plates for the wing pivot support boxes for the F-111 under subcontracts to General Dynamics Corp. for about two years. The contracts for the support plates were canceled June 30, 1969 and the contracts for the longerons were canceled in October 1969.

Doyne Haywood of Piggott, plant manager of the Blades Manufacturing Co. plant at Rector when the plant made F-111 parts for General Dynamics, was the last government witness. Blades is a division of Selb. The Selb plant at Walnut Ridge closed in April 1969 and the production of the wing box plates was moved to the Blades plant at Rector.

Haywood testified that between April and September 1969, about 85 per cent of the plates and longerons sent to General Dynamics by Selb contained unauthorized welds to hide flaws on the parts. He estimated the number of welded parts shipped to General Dynamics' plant at Fort Worth, Tex., at 100 a month.

Haywood said that when the Selb plant at Walnut Ridge closed, Kenneth W. Hunn of Pocatong was moved to Rector as his superior. Haywood said Hunn soon told him there was going to be some unauthorized welding on parts that otherwise would be refused by General Dynamics because of undercut sections.

"I said I didn't like it," Haywood said, "and then he said, 'You don't like it and I don't like it but that's what the man said.'"

Haywood was then asked who the phrase "the man" referred to.

"Harry Bass," Haywood replied.

"completely normal" and part of a decision to change the way of celebrating the holiday.

The Japanese Kyodo news service distributed a Peking-dated dispatch saying that Chinese officials in the mainland capital "scoffed at reports that some sinister developments are afoot in the Communist party hierarchy."

Kyodo reported the Chinese officials, who were not named, "said the parades will be held as scheduled."

Monitors of Chinese broadcasts said they had heard nothing to suggest that Mao is dead or ill.

The stories in French newspapers were based largely on a dispatch Tuesday from the Peking correspondent of the French news agency Agence France Presse, one of the few Western news services permanently in the Chinese capital.

The dispatch said the National Day parade, reviewed annually by Mao since 1949, had been canceled.

In Taiwan, well informed sources said civilian and military aircraft had been grounded on the China mainland between Sept. 13 and 15 and flights had just resumed. Such action is believed to have taken place only twice before in Communist China, during political crises.

One theory advanced by the French newspapers was that the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party was meeting in plenary session to oust remaining extreme left-wingers, such as Mao's secretary, Chen Po-ta, and establish a new hierarchy before the leaders appear in public.

President Nixon's planned visit to Peking was part of another theory which proposed that improving relations between China and the United States was being opposed by hard liners in Peking.

Another theory was that Mao was seriously ill or dead. The current visit to Peking by U.S. heart specialist Paul Dudley White, who treated President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and another U.S. heart specialist was cited as support for the theory that Mao had suffered a heart attack.

Black Caucus Plans Purge of Whites

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional Black Caucus has begun a purge list of white congressmen it says are voting against the interests of blacks in their districts.

The target congressmen are those from closely-contested districts where black voters hold the balance of power.

The first two members to make the list were Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C., and Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., who voted last week against a tough job equality enforcement bill backed by civil rights groups.

It lost by five votes.

"The Black Caucus considers this bill to have involved the most fundamental civil rights issues yet to be resolved," said the 13 House members who make up the Black Caucus in a statement Tuesday.

"Those members who refused to vote in support of this bill simply do not deserve voter support from the black community," they said.

Galifianakis, whose district is one-fourth black, was re-elected to a fourth term last November with a majority of 52.3 per cent of the vote. Mazzoli, with a 15 per cent black district, won a first term by 211 votes—a 50.1 per cent margin.

"The black community overwhelmingly supported both," the Caucus said.

In last week's vote Galifianakis and Mazzoli supported a Republican-backed substitute which was adopted by a vote of 202 to 197. It is now awaiting Senate action.

The caucus called the vote, "a devastating blow for those who seek equality of opportunity in employment." It said 35 members from districts with large black constituencies voted for the substitute, but Mazzoli and Galifianakis were singled out at this time because they had such narrow election victories. Neither congressman was available for comment on the action.

French Prison Hostages Murdered

CLAIRVAUX, France (AP) — Gendarmes blasted their way into the prison hospital early today and authorities said they found two hostages held by two mutineering prisoners had been killed—their throats cut.

The prisoners had overpowered a guard and a female prison nurse and held them hostage for 20 hours. The convicts demanded their freedom.

The French penitentiary director, Jean le Corno, had gone to prison to attempt to negotiate with the convicts, Claude Buffet and Roger Bontemps. They demanded arms and ammunition. Le Corno said they could leave the prison, but without arms.

Finally, the door leading to the prison hospital, where the convicts held the hostages, was blasted open with a plastic explosive. The guard, Guy Giardot, 25, was found dead, and the nurse, Nicole Comte, 35, was dying. The two convicts were injured and were taken into custody.

Le Corno had been sent to the prison by Minister of Justice Rene Pleven. Le Corno said the convicts demanded that they be given three revolvers, a submachine gun and 250 shells. They also asked that they be allowed to take the hostages with them as they left the prison.

"After the two prisoners refused all of our propositions, including one to let them free but without arms, it was decided to enter the prison hospital by force," Le Corno said.

The two convicts were taken to a nearby hospital for treatment. Six prisoners who were uninjured and were evacuated. Buffet and Bontemps had

Leachville Okays Bonds

LEACHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Leachville voters Tuesday gave approval for the issuance of $107,000 in general improvement bonds for improvements to the city's water and sewer system and construction of a new municipal office building.

patients in the hospital were overpowered by Girardot and Mrs. Comte Tuesday and tied them to chairs in the prison hospital. They began negotiating with prison officials by telephone, demanding their freedom.

Nuclear Bomb Is Lowered in Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-megaton nuclear bomb had been lowered at least 300 feet into an underground Alaskan test site last week even though President Nixon hadn't given official approval for the blast, congressional sources say.

The bomb, largest ever planned for a subterranean test in North America, was being taken to its blast site more than a mile below the surface when the Atomic Energy Commission furloughed a third of its work force last Thursday, the sources added.

The AEC declined to say where the bomb is now, citing security reason, but the agency did say it would take at least a week to lower the device into the testing area.

The official administration position is that President Nixon has not yet given his approval to the test and, therefore, no date has been determined for setting off the bomb at the Aleutian island of Amchitka off the coast of Alaska.

However, the congressional sources said they had been told by university researchers working on the project the bomb was set to explode sometime between Oct. 1 and Oct. 7.

The AEC acknowledged early October would be the time it wanted the test, if approved, but refused to say if the decision to lay off 300 of 780 workers meant the explosion had been postponed. However, another administration source pointed to two developments he indicated could be involved: the Sept. 26 visit to Alaska of Japanese Emperor Hirohito and a Canadian tour next month by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Japan has been a protestor against the Amchitka blast, which is designed to test a warhead for antimissile weapons system.

SHE SHALL NOT PASS. In the continuing war between the Vatican and the miniskirt, a visitor to St. Peter's tries to slip in by dropping her slip to knee level, only to be stopped by an eagle-eyed guard.

Canada also has objected to the test, and Kosygin's visit seeking further Canadian friendship would come shortly after an Oct. 1-7 explosion.

The main objections involve potential earthquakes and tidal waves and the danger radiation might be released into the atmosphere.

Vic Hadfield is the new captain of the New York Rangers hockey team.

Man Killed at Mayflower

MAYFLOWER, Ark. (AP) — Ronald W. Robinson, 19, of near Bee Branch was killed Tuesday when he walked into the path of a tractor on Interstate 40 near Mayflower.

Officers reported that Robinson had parked his car on the road's right shoulder because it had run out of gas, then stepped into the path of the tractor driven by Bobby Ford, 44, of near Greenbrier.

When your suit is either spades or hearts, a five-club or five-diamond barrage bid, after your four no-trump, does not bother you at all if you are using DOPI.

Take today's hand as an example. West puts in a five-club bid in order to interfere with Blackwood. North and South are doubling with no aces; passing with one ace and bidding with more than one ace. Thus West's five-club bid actually makes things easier for North. He can actually show two aces by a bid of five diamonds. Would a five-heart bid show three aces?

Not if North and South are advanced bidders. North would bid five diamonds to show two aces and five hearts to show two aces plus additional values.

Thus when he bids five spades he is showing three aces. He knows that he can afford this because without interference by West he would still have bid five spades with his hand.

The five spade call is all South needs to get him to a grand slam. South knows that his partner has opened the bidding and then given a jump raise in hearts with not more than one of the three top honors and without the king of his first bid suit. It is apparent to South what North's holding is so South leaps to seven hearts without any shilly-shallying.

Dear Dr. Lamb—A few years ago I had a self-induced septic abortion followed by a D and C (dilatation and curettage of the womb). I am preparing for surgery now and have not mentioned this to my gynecologist. Is this an important part of my past medical history and should I tell him?

Dear Reader—Of course it is important. A doctor is handicapped enough dealing with the complexities of illness and the human body without the problem of not getting a complete story of the patient's past illnesses. You want your doctor to be prepared to do the best possible for you. Let him decide if something is important.

I am always a little sad about women and abortions, particularly the real dangers that some women expose themselves to. The trip to some seamy apartment house or the trips across the border are all real dangers to a woman's health. So are most self-induced efforts. Obviously there is no good answer to the problem. I do think however for those who insist on having an abortion that it would be much better to have it done in a reputable professional setting with modern medical facilities than under conditions that may cause permanent injury or even death. For those who need facts I would recommend David Hendin's little fact book entitled "Everything You Need to Know

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

OH, HOW I HATE TO GET UP IN THE MORNING!

Dear Helen:

This problem won't seem like much to you, but it may ruin my marriage. I can't get up in the morning.

I'm supposed to see my husband off for work at 6 a.m. I set the alarm—and sleep right through. He doesn't hear it either, so he's often late, and he almost never gets breakfast.

He calls me lazy, throws things around, says he's going to lose his job but still, no matter how I concentrate, I just can't force myself to face the day at 5 a.m.

We have four small children and I'm carrying a baby now; also, we have a big house to care for.

What am I going to do? —HELP PLEASE

Dear Helen:

Put breakfast things out the night before, put the alarm clock across the room (set on extra loud) so that your husband must stir himself to turn it off—and stop feeling guilty. A mother of four and one-half needs sleep when she can get it, and a man who doesn't give her a rain check on early morning meals is so inconsiderate he'd make a miserable breakfast companion.

(And you can tell him I said so. On second thought, you'd better not!) —H.

Dear Helen:

Thanks in great part to you, our goal of obtaining a much-needed kidney machine for our hospital is within reach before the December 31st deadline. Response to our appeal for Betty Crocker Coupons has been unbelievable. They have poured in from all over the country since someone (would you believe—we don't know who?) wrote to HHU, telling of our project.

We now need just 50,000 more coupons, and the kidney machine will be a reality. As your readers know, General Mills has given us until December 31, 1971, to get them in.

Helen, we don't know how to thank you and your readers for all you've done. Could we add just one final plea: if anyone has Betty Crocker coupons or can collect them—please, please send them to us before the middle of December. With deepest gratitude: Ethel Hughes, Saddle River Reformed Church, 500 Saddle River Road, Upper Saddle River, N.J., 07458. Dear Readers:

I'll add my thanks to Ethel's. Keep those coupons coming—there are only 50,000 more to go...and that life-saving kidney machine is greatly needed.

P.S. Another project which needs Betty Crocker coupons (and has a deadline of November, 1972) is one conducted by the Girl Scouts of Secaucus, N.J., to get a much-needed, (and expensive) part for a hospital heart machine.

Thanks for any help you can give these two projects. Coupons for the latter can be sent to: Edna Namendorf, 809 Cedar Ave., Secaucus, N.J., 07094. —H.

In May, Bill married a girl who has lots of money and a new car. He still sees me, and says he'll come back to marry me when he gets what he wants from her. She is buying him a motorcycle and guitar, but he comes over whenever he can. I knew him first. Do you think I'll get him last? —WANTS A HUSBAND

PERSONAL FINANCE

Here's a tip on how to make an easy $583,500, tax free. Besides a minimum investment—less than 4 percent—all you need is a body that you can bury for a few years.

The method has been tried and proved by a church organization in Hartford, Conn. It bought 121 acres of vacant land, at a cost of $23,500, and classified it as a cemetery—which made it tax-exempt. One body was buried. Time passed, land values appreciated. Five or six years ago the body was removed and the land parcel sold—for $607,000, all tax-free.

You say you can't do that because you're not a church organization? Don't worry. The same book that reports the above incident tells you about laws that allow three persons to incorporate as a church. Put an altar in the basement, hold a 90-minute service once a week—zippo, your home is a tax-exempt house of worship.

Be careful about reading this book, because if you're a taxpayer it's liable to induce a fit of apoplexy. You'll learn, for example, that approximately one-third of all the potentially taxable real estate in the country is tax-exempt. Who, then, digs up the money to support the schools, city services and the other costs—including the share not paid by the freeloaders? You.

The book is "The Free List" by Alfred Balk—the story of property without taxes. It's a thoroughly researched study, semischolarly in style, heavy on footnotes and tables, a publication of the nonprofit Russell Sage Foundation (distributed by Basic Books, Inc.; hardcover, $7.50).

Solved His Problem With Match

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer
WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — Eddie Campos was talking about the problems he's had with his car when the phone rang. The caller was a man in San Bernardino who wanted to talk about the problems he's had with his car.

Campos didn't know the caller, but listened anyway. Then he shrugged his shoulders and said: "Well I feel sorry for you. I solved all my problems with one match."

Campos' problem was his 1970 Lincoln Continental Mark III.

He got so fed up at the things he said went wrong with it he burned it to a crisp on Aug. 31 with a great deal of ceremony and five gallons of gasoline. On the front lawn of a nearby Ford assembly plant.

Since then, Campos, married and the father of three, has become sort of a folk hero to some car-owners. His car trouble started about seven miles after he bought the auto in October 1969: His wife, Carletta, says the entire ignition assembly fell out when she tried to start the car.

From then on, says Campos, it was back and forth to the dealer with power windows that wouldn't go up or, if up, wouldn't go down, an air conditioner that wouldn't condition, a battery that wouldn't electrify, and more.

"It seemed like every time we took it in, something would go wrong with it two weeks later," said Mrs. Campos.

Campos, described by a deputy sheriff after the Great Car Burn as "perfectly sober, perfectly rational and completely disgusted," denies he's on a one-man vendetta against Ford. "I don't think it's that," he says. "It's more of a service to the consumers to help them stand up and demand their rights. As long as they remain silent I'll remain active."

A local spokesman for Ford would only say that a check with the dealer from whom Campos bought the car showed only one complaint had been received from Campos and that it had been handled satisfactorily.

Campos, meanwhile, put the charred black and rust-brown hulk of his $10,300 Lincoln—he's still making payments on it and has $1,812.43 to go—on display on the front lawn of his plastering business here.

A five-foot lemon tree sprouts from a hole he chopped in the car's roof.

Campos says he's at least saved another car maker, Chrysler, from an even gaudier display of consumer wrath.

"This lady called me up and said she'd been having trouble with a Barracuda she bought," he recalled. "She wanted to drive the car back to the dealer's showroom, set it on fire and burn the whole place down."

"Thank God I managed to talk her out of that."

A-FRAME CABIN

Need an A-frame cabin for lakeside lot? This A-frame building provides a combined dining and living area with small "U"-shaped kitchen on the ground floor. The first floor also includes a 12' x 10' bedroom and 8' x 8' bath with shower. This open type design meets the needs of lakeside living.

The second floor level in the cabin provides a large bedroom and balcony with storage facilities.

The building is constructed on concrete piers with the floor raised above grade line approximately two feet. This plan outlines the structural details needed in this type construction ranging from the concrete piers to roof decking and main structural members.

If you have a need for a plan of this type, you may obtain a copy, free of charge, from the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension office. Request Plan No. 647202.

There Are Many Things That An Author Really Gets Tired of Hearing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that an author gets tired of hearing:

"Why don't you just dash off a book on sex? They all make money."

"So you're an author? That's funny. You don't look like an author. I thought all authors had beards and wore thick-lensed glasses."

"I hear you've written a new book. I love to read. Why don't you send me a copy when you can get round to it?"

"Since you're a writer, I suppose you must have been a bosom buddy of Ernest Hemingway. Tell me what he was really like. Was he mostly a bully, a bull thrower, or a boozier?"

"My wife read one of your books once. I don't read much myself—never did have much of a taste for literature."

"If you want to get rich, write a book on sex. Everybody this side of the cemetery is interested in sex."

"Do you live in a garret and believe in free love?"

"As your publisher, Harry, I can't account for this. We printed only 5,000 copies of your last novel, but already we have had 6,000 returned."

"Oh, yes, I browsed through one of your books in the public library only last year. I forget the name of it and what it was all about, but I remember thinking at the time that it sure had a lot of deep thoughts in it."

"For writing books like this you get paid?"

"I have a nephew who used to be an author. Now he's in real estate and says he's eating a lot more regularly."

"I admired your last book very much, but confidentially Mr. Inkwell and just between us, what were you really trying to say?"

"What else do you do for a living, Mr. Inkwell, besides just write novels?"

"Shall I pour you another martini, Mr. Inkwell? I've heard that most authors would rather drink than write."

"As your publisher, Harry, I'm not asking you to sell your soul by putting sex in every page of your next novel. So let's compromise. How about every other page?"

Henderson, 51, a career officer who commanded the Americal's 11th Brigade, is being tried on four charges: that he failed to conduct a proper investigation, did not report allegations of war crimes to superiors and that he lied twice to the Army board of inquiry led by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers.

Wilson, now stationed in Spain, was in the inspector general's office when he first began investigating the My Lai attack. He later was assigned to the Peers panel.

Wilson was asked about the adequacy of Henderson's investigation. He replied: "I wasn't conducting an investigation to see if any investigation had been made. I was looking for facts about My Lai."

Individually Youths Praised, Collectively They Are Rated Bad

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
DEWITT, Ark. (AP)—Around DeWitt, uninvolved persons do not generally think of the Wampler murder defendants as a group of good boys.

Individually, the youngsters occasionally draw remarks of praise, but collectively they more often are rated a bad bunch.

Ironically, the youngest least condemned by the citizens was the one first condemned by the state.

He is Joe Newton Kagebien, 16, whose execution Oct. 11 has been stayed by Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Kagebien had lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Bessie McKennon, in her DeWitt home for only a few months before the shotgun death of Jimmie Wayne Wampler, 27, of Fair Oaks (Cross County).

The youth's fellow defendants, who are in the Arkansas County Jail awaiting trial, are Benny Ray West, 16, Teddy Ray Kittler, 16, and Larry L. Mannis, 17, all of DeWitt.

Mayor John Schallhorn said folks in DeWitt believe the outcome of their trials is a foregone conclusion: conviction.

"I've come to the conclusion that the people feel there needs to be an example made," Schallhorn said. "They fell bad about having it done in DeWitt, but that they need to show kids that justice can be carried out. They feel something should be done, drastic, and should be done now."

"Folks believe they know what's going to happen," he said. "They've kind of encouraged kids to come up and hear it so they would see what can happen when you get into trouble. I think it will make the kids realize what can happen."

"Heretofore, it has all been a force to go before judges from the Municipal Court on up," the mayor said. "The consequences have been small compared to what they should be. They get sentenced to one year and get out in three months and think they're smart."

"I think children and people in their early 20s will realize what can happen and will think more," said Schallhorn, 31, who has been mayor for seven years.

Last Nov. 7, DeWitt police were notified by Mannis, West and Kagebien of "a killing." West led police to Wampler's nude body in a field by a lonely road about eight miles south of DeWitt.

Authorities said Wampler had been shot in the left side of the head with a 16-gauge shotgun at point-blank range. The right side of the head also was crushed. The ribs showed signs of a beating. The back bore circular marks such as might be caused by "gouging" with a pipe or gun barrel, police testified.

Kagebien, the only defendant tried thus far, testified that he did not shoot Wampler. He said, though, that he struck Wampler once with a rifle when the rice farmer came toward him. The defense said Wampler had attempted homosexual acts with the youths and that an altercation resulted.

"I feel that the boy hung himself in some of the statements he made," Schallhorn said. "People here feel that he had as much to do with it (the death of Wampler) as the others."

"There's talk that people believe the Kagebien's boys attorney wasn't up on the case like he should have been," the mayor said.

Kagebien was represented chiefly by J. W. Moncrief, 83, of Stuttgart.

"People feel it's possible Kagebien might be the only one of the four to receive this type of penalty — that the other boys will have attorneys who might find loopholes the other lawyer didn't," Schallhorn said. "If that happens I'll feel bad about it — I'll feel that this boy got the short end of the rope."

Some people in DeWitt think all four of the youths had gotten the short end of it for a long time.

A sales clerk in one store on the town square, who asked that she not be named, put it this way: "They were from families that weren't real well off. The kids didn't get much discipline. They were allowed to run around too much at night. It's hard to blame them, but something like a killing can't just be excused. Somebody has got to be punished."

Mrs. Billie Burton, who works in a sporting goods store, recalls that she formerly worked at another store where people paid their telephone bills. Teddy Kittler's family sent him around to pay their bill, she said.

"He was always clean, neat, polite, real nice. I never had any trouble with him. If I ever sold him anything, I guess it was BBs. I was real surprised that he was involved in this thing," Mrs. Burton said.

She added: "There's three men running loose in DeWitt who killed people. Some in this town get more for running a stop sign than for killing a man. I don't think it's right to let the adults off and stick it to the children. It's a pitiful shame that just goes back to their home life."

Sandra Vanderford, a store clerk, said she knew both West and Kittler. West worked one summer on the farm of her grandfather, Floyd Halbert, she said.

"Benny was always real nice to me," she said. "He would say 'yes, sir' and 'no, sir' and would show people respect. I liked Benny West."

"But Teddy Kittler was mean. I've known him since the third grade. He was always mean. He just walked around the streets a lot and tried to pick fights with people. If he didn't like somebody, he'd just go up and say something ugly to start trouble with them. He was just a mean kid," Miss Vanderford said.

Of the four, Kagebien was the only one who had no previous record of trouble for traffic violations or in Municipal Court.

West, however, had been committed to the boys training school at Pine Bluff in connection with larceny, one of several cases in which he had been involved prior to Wampler's death.

Mannis had paid fines for several minor offenses and Kittler also had been fined for petty larceny, fighting and drinking intoxicants while a minor.

Mrs. McKennon, grandmother to both Kagebien and Mannis, who are cousins, said, "I cautioned Joey about running with Larry. I told him it could lead nowhere but to trouble. I don't want to say anything to hurt anybody. I don't see how it could—it's only the truth and the truth never hurt anybody."

She said even Mannis' mother had told Kagebien to avoid her son's company.

Besides the Kittlers' yellow, two-story, frame house, Benny's mother, barefoot in the grass, takes clothes from a line as she talks with a reporter about how she gets little rest these days. Black pouches lay under her eyes.

"He's never been in trouble before, nothing serious," she said. "Well, there was one thing, it involved fighting. His older brother was in the Army and was home then. He was pretty well drunk. He wanted Teddy to go somewhere and Teddy didn't want to go. They got to fighting."

Kittler's father, formerly a rice farmer, fell ill, then recovered, but has not worked in some time, she said.

Teddy and the other defendants awaiting trial are held in the Arkansas County Jail a few blocks away. Visiting is limited to one hour per week, on Sunday afternoons. A half-block from the Kittler house, at one corner of the broad sidewalk around the town square, the name of one of Kittler's sisters, Carol, has been etched into a recemented section.

Schallhorn said Kittler used to shop in the mayor's hardware store.

"He was quiet around me," Schallhorn said. "I never had any trouble with him. He always seemed preoccupied, always thinking. I don't know what he was thinking about, but he was always thinking. I liked him myself."

Mrs. Dorothy Winans, daughter of Mrs. McKennon, lays much of the trouble to the availability of alcoholic beverage to DeWitt youngsters.

"I think drinking had a lot to do with it," she said. "Kids can get alcohol anywhere in this town. The people who sell ought to get hung, not the kids."

Mrs. McKennon, an ardent churchgoer, says that if anything, the citizens of DeWitt have treated her "more kinder" since her grandson was con-

Unauthorized Welds Ordered, Says Official

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The former vice president in charge of manufacturing for the Selb Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge said he had been ordered to make unauthorized welds in parts the firm made for the F-111 jet fighter-bomber.

Kenneth W. Hunn of Pocatonto said in U.S. District Court here Monday that Selb President Harry C. Bass Jr. had directly ordered him to make the welds and "don't get caught."

Bass and his company are on trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the government by concealing defects in F-111 parts made for Selb under contract to the General Dynamics Corp. General Dynamics subcontracted for the parts.

Hunn was one of seven persons charged with concealing the defects. He came before the court in April and pleaded no contest to charges. He has not been sentenced yet.

Hunn said he had had several conversations with Bass concerning the unauthorized welds. He said one of those conversations occurred in April 1969.

"I told Mr. Bass we were out of good parts to send to General Dynamics," he said. "Mr. Bass told me to weld the parts up and not get caught."

On cross-examination by Bass' attorney, Hunn said that General Dynamics officials had complained several times that Selb was not supplying them with the parts fast enough. He said a delegation from General Dynamics came to Selb to try to see if they could increase Selb's production.

Hunn said that the steel billets used in the parts and furnished by General Dynamics were often faulty.

He said that some of the billets had "hard spots" that could not be cut and that others were warped and twisted.

Bass' attorney introduced in evidence several letters written by Hunn to General Dynamics complaining about the inferiority of the parts.

Earlier in the day, Melvin C. Davis of Walnut Ridge, former Selb plant manager, also testified that many of the billets sent by General Dynamics to Selb were unfit to use in making the finished parts.

Davis also pleaded no contest to charges in regard to the Selb operation. He has not been sentenced.

It's sympathy, I imagine. They know I go to church. But the light of it has got to shine out in your life through the week as well as going to church," she said.

Mail from sympathizers has come to Kagebien from as far as Finland and South Africa. The letters urge him to trust in God.

Bumpers has received about 200 letters urging him to grant clemency in the case. He has said he will take no action until legal proceedings have been terminated.

However, Kagebien is the only resident of Death Row because the 16 who accumulated under Rockefeller were given commutations to terms of life or less. Rockefeller commuted 15 of the sentences and Bumpers commuted the other.

Kagebien's father lives at Lodge Corner. He never caused trouble in DeWitt, people said. Joey's mother visited him after his arrest. Afflicted with an ailment, she finds relief away from Arkansas, Mrs. McKennon said. The mother did not attend the trial.

"It grieves his heart, I know, but he's the kind of kid who don't let it show too bad," Mrs. McKennon said.

She recalls that Kagebien spent months in jail awaiting trial, but one day the sheriff brought Joey by his grandmother's house and saw his old dog, Jada.

"She didn't know him, he'd been gone so," Mrs. McKennon said.

"He said, 'Grandma, she don't know me no more.'"

"I told him, 'She will again.'"

Now Kagebien, confined at Cummins Prison Farm, is an avid reader, especially in the Bible, she said. Among his recent favorites were the scriptures about Jezebel, her iniquity and consequent punishment, and the exodus. Israel's freedom from bondage.

There are no known original copies of the Bible extant.

Donates Bull to Koreans

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower has donated an Angus bull raised on her farm here to the American Korean Foundation to improve breeding of cattle in Korea.

Question of Authority Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill legal specialists are quietly researching a question that could delay and complicate President Nixon's efforts to negotiate a return to orderly trade and currency exchange.

The question is whether the President, who used existing authority to impose a special 10 per cent surtax on imports, has the authority to remove it without seeking new legislation from Congress.

The surcharge was described as a temporary measure to help the United States halt a slump in its balance of trade.

A major bargaining asset in United States' efforts to work out agreements on dollar exchange rates, removal of non-tariff barriers on U.S. exports, and other elements contributing to the persistent deficit in the U.S. balance of payments, the surcharge has been bitterly criticized abroad.

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501. Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. If I drop out of Part B of Medicare, can I ever enroll again?

A. Yes, if you enroll during a general enrollment period within 3 years after your coverage ends. You may re-enroll only once. The general enrollment period is during the first three months of each calendar year.

Q. Several months ago I was taken by ambulance to a hospital in a city which is about 50 miles from my home. My claim for these services was denied. Why?

A. Probably because there is a hospital in your town which has the necessary facilities to handle your illness. Medicare would pay under the circumstances only if the local hospital could not provide the services required in treating your illness. Also, the ambulance service must be medically necessary.

Q. I have been paying my Medicare premiums quarterly for a couple of years. I retired in December and began drawing social security checks in January. I had already paid my premiums for the first 3 months of 1971, but the premiums were also deducted from my checks. Will there be an adjustment later?

A. Yes. You should receive a refund in about 3 months.

Q. When Medicare first became law we understood that practically all nursing home services would be covered. Has there been a change?

A. No. The law did not provide for custodial care in a nursing home. It does provide for skilled nursing care in an "Extended Care Facility" for persons who have been hospitalized and still require skilled nursing care. This is not the same as custodial care in a nursing home.

Defiant Fish Farmers Refuse to Apply for Permits to Drain Ponds

By KATHY GOSNELL
Pine Bluff Commercial
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Fish farmers in Southeast Arkansas have defied the federal government this summer, and refused to apply to the Army Engineers for permits to discharge their pond water into navigable streams.

The Engineers announced several months ago that all industries and businesses that disposed of waste into streams and lakes must receive a permit to continue this practice. July 1 was the deadline to file applications for the permit.

The Vicksburg District of the Engineers reported recently that only one fish farmer had sought the discharge permit.

According to records kept by the state Game and Fish Commission, there were 656 fish farmers in Arkansas in 1969.

The commission requires each farmer to obtain a $10 permit for each 100 acres of fish pond in his operation.

A commission spokesman at Hogan Hatchery at Lonoke said that the fish farming industry in Arkansas recorded a net worth of $17,636,000 in 1969, the last year figures were available. This was more than half the national fish-farm production, he said.

Seventy per cent of the industry produces minnows and other bait fish, while catfish farming accounts for the rest, the spokesman said.

The Little Rock District of the Engineers reported that a mailing list of fish farmers was being compiled and that a letter would be sent to the farmers warning them to comply with the law.

The permit regulations were drawn up by the federal Environmental Protection Agency earlier this year to set guidelines for enforcement of the 1899 Refuse Act. That law forbids the discharge of any waste into rivers or lakes, exempting only municipal sewage plants.

The fish farmers do not intend to take up arms against the Engineers, but they hope to force the Washington office of the agency to rewrite the rules.

A strict interpretation of existing regulations, industry representatives say, would force every fish farmer out of business because it would be prohibitively expensive to comply.

Fish farmers also were outraged to find that their occupation was placed on the critical list of industries that were considered major polluters of the nation's waterways. The list included enterprises such as the petroleum industry, paint varnish factories, meat and poultry producers, and fish hatcheries.

Apparently, the farmers who raise fish in ponds, principally a southern industry, were lumped together with the better-known "raceway" hatcheries that produce trout, salmon and other game fish.

Col. John Cousins in the Engineers' Washington headquarters said recently that the Environmental Protection Agency based its critical industry list on a thick manual written by the federal Office of Management and Budget that classified all industry on the basis of its products.

Certain industries were associated with water-quality degradation, Cousins said, and fish hatcheries were among them. Cousins, who is assistant chief of the operations division of the civil works directorate of the Engineers, said that raceway hatcheries use a continuous flow of fresh water through their operations, and daily flush waste water back into lakes and rivers. This was considered to be a pollutant, he said.

However, Cousins said his office was seeking a new interpretation of the situation, and had requested the protection agency to examine pond-raised fish production to determine whether it should be in a category separate from hatcheries.

Arnold Dean of Vicksburg, chief of the permit section of the Engineers there, said his office had delayed any action against the fish farmers until the Washington office replied to a list of questions submitted by the American Fish Farmers Federation on the matter.

Would a $100 permit be required to discharge water from each pond and holding tank, it asked, or for each catfish cage placed in public waters.

Malcolm Johnson of Tillar is one minnow farmer who believes that the regulations would require just that.

"I haven't complied (with permit regulations)," Johnson said. "It would put me out of business if I did." Johnson operates the Delta Farm Fisheries, which has 1,100 acres of fish ponds. Most of his production is minnows, with some catfish.

He estimated that his operation had 75 outlets from his ponds into Ditch 18, Canal 19 and Canal 43, drainage ditches constructed by the federal agencies.

It would be "terribly expensive" to seek permits for each outlet, since a single permit would cost $100, Johnson said. In addition to this application cost, he added, he would have to obtain a commercial laboratory analysis of his water to determine its quality. This would cost another $250 to $600, he said.

"It would cost $15,000 and seven years before I completed the process," Johnson concluded. Rather than be forced into that, he said, he would quit fish farming.

Edgar Farmer of Dumas has 800 acres of catfish and is in the process of constructing 300 additional acres of ponds. He also has ignored Engineers requirements to seek a permit to discharge his pond water into nearby streams.

"It would be a real hardship on each farmer," he said. Farmer said he had 50 pond outlets, which apparently would mean a cost of $5,000 just to make applications in compliance with the law. They drain into Black Creek and Bayou Bertholomew.

Emphasis on Election of Blacks

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Black political strategists say they are putting special emphasis on electing blacks this fall in 10 Mississippi counties that have black majorities by unofficial count.

Gilbert Jonas, coordinator of the National Committee to Elect Charles Evers Governor of Mississippi, says the total of 225 black candidates in Mississippi is the largest for any single state election in the nation.

More than half of the 225 are running in the 10 target counties, and a majority win for blacks in any one would be regarded as a victory by the Negro political strategists, because no Mississippi county currently is controlled by blacks.

"These 10 counties constitute our major priorities because, with a modest amount of money and manpower, a substantial number of blacks can be elected to public office there," Jonas said.

Living a Great Life in Vietnam

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
CHU LAI, VIETNAM (AP) — When Glenn Hood went to war the gang at Earl Zener's barber shop threw a farewell party with visions of gory combat in the jungles of Vietnam.

Since then more than 100 showgirls have disrobed in his bedroom. Generals call him by his first name colonels curry his favor. He sleeps in late, eats in the officers' club and has private, air conditioned quarters.

The 21-year-old soldier has never fired a gun in Vietnam. To him the enemy is a bald pate.

Hood is the general's barber, one of the most influential men at Americal Division headquarters.

"It's the Samson complex," he gloats. "No one messes with the man behind the shears. If the boys at Zeiner's could see me now!"

Hood came to Chu Lai from Coulterville, Ill. He started as a medical supply clerk, but a computer showed he'd gone to Belleville Barber College.

"At first I didn't want to do it, me a Spec. 4 cutting a general's hair. But they pressured me into it."

So Hood moved from barracks into two rooms behind the stage of the officers' club. He discovered that his bedroom also served as a changing room for show girls who entertain there every Saturday.

"At first it blew my mind, the whole setup," he said. "Now after eight months of having naked women in my room I'm kind of used to it."

"Of course I'm not supposed to be in there when they're dressing."

Although his only assigned duty is trimming three generals and their staffs, Hood welcomes all officers and civilian contractors based at Chu Lai.

"I cut about 80 or 90 heads a week," he said. "I'm not allowed to ask for payment but everyone tips about $1 a head. They know that if they don't they'll get a lousy haircut next time. I can make a guy look real stupid without him even knowing it."

"Most of them try to be nice to me. But I certainly don't have to be nice to them if I don't want to."

"When a man's in my chair he's my equal, whether he's wearing one stripe or two stars. As a barber it's my job to draw them out, make conversation, and I think I succeed pretty well. They confide in me, even the generals."

Majors and lower grade officers beg him to leave their hair as long as regulations permit.

U.S., Russia Will Discuss China Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers plans to go to the United Nations Friday for talks with Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko and other foreign ministers as the General Assembly takes up China seating and a successor to retiring Secretary General U Thant.

Efforts to trim the soaring U.N. budget, reform of the world body's economic policy and heading off some extreme anti-South African proposals also rank high.

The Mideast rates priority too. But Rogers is looking toward backstage talks with the Israelis, Egyptians and others to produce enough progress to ward off a heads-on U.N. confrontation over the issue.

With Gromyko, the Secretary of State intends to run through a lengthening list of items ranging from the Middle East to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

The SALT negotiators made some headway at Helsinki this summer but more political decision making is needed before the superpowers achieve their avowed goal of a limitation on anti-ballistic missiles, (ABMs) and offensive missiles by the end of this year.

Meanwhile the two sides are preparing to announce side agreements on modernizing the Washington-Moscow hot line and on prompt consultation in case of nuclear accidents.

Rogers also wants to know more about the Kremlin's intent on a European Security Conference and negotiating mutual troop reductions in Europe, now that the Big Four have reached a Berlin agreement.

Rogers interrupts his U.N. stay Saturday to fly to Alaska for President Nixon's meeting with Japan's Emperor Hirohito. He is to return to New York to deliver the main U.S. speech to the General Assembly Oct. 1 and will meet with a number of foreign ministers in the following week.

The China fight is headed for an Assembly vote next month with U.S. officials saying they have a good chance of preventing Nationalist China's ouster while allowing Peking a seat.

George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said "I think the important question resolution has an excellent chance to carry and I think that will do a lot to keep them (Taiwan) in the United Nations."

Bush, speaking on CBS television (Face the Nation) Sunday, referred to the U.S.-sponsored resolution which would require a two-thirds vote to expel a member.

New look. New luxury. New protection. New 1972 Pontiacs!

Grand Ville 4-door Hardtop

1972 Grand Ville. Our most luxurious Wide-Track ever... with a new kind of bumper to help protect it.

As on all full-size '72 Pontiacs, the new Grand Ville has an advanced front bumper system that actually "gives" on minor impact and then returns to position. Grand Ville also features an elegant formal roof. Our smoothest, quietest ride. Our richest appointments. A 455 V-8. Power steering. Power front disc brakes. And Turbo Hydra-matic transmission.

1972 Grand Prix. You'll have to decide what's better... the style or the ride.

It won't be easy. The styling's timeless. The ride. smooth and stable. There's a cockpit-styled interior, a 400 V-8, power steering, power front disc brakes and Turbo Hydra-matic. So it's quite a choice. Maybe that's what makes Grand Prix so interesting to drive.

1972 Luxury LeMans. All the luxury you want without buying more car than you need.

Time was, the only way to get a truly luxurious car was to buy big. No more. Now there's Luxury LeMans—a new mid-size Pontiac with full-size luxury. A distinctive grille, deluxe wheel covers, rear-wheel fender skirts, generous chrome accents, plush carpet, unusually rich fabrics and the look of teak on the dash.

1972 Firebird. Pontiac has taken the rough ride out of the road car.

For good. Considering Firebird's low-slung good looks, that's quite an accomplishment.

But Pontiac engineers redesigned the suspension to help provide a big-car ride and created fantastically comfortable bucket-type seats. You'll also appreciate Firebird's new low price.

1972 Ventura II. The new small Pontiac with the small-car price. Lots of people build small cars.

But Pontiac offers you a small car with prestige and great styling—all at a small-car price. What's more, Ventura II is tough, roomy, stingy with your gas money, and with Body by Fisher, it's built to last. If you like small cars, you'll love the new Ventura II.

That's what keeps Pontiac a cut above. Don't forget to buckle up for safety.

They're all at your Pontiac dealer's now.

ever to choose from at the top of the Delta 88 line."

Delta 88 Royale: Elegance inside and out.

If you like lots of luxury, with a sporting flair, we've got a happy surprise: a new line of four elegant Royales. Hardtop coupe. Sporty convertible. And new four-door hardtop and pillar sedans. Each with Royale's distinctive side louvers. Inside—all the luxury the name implies.

And the luxury goes deep—to a thoroughly insulated Body-by-Fisher that helps keep outside noise outside. Come on in—let us fit your family into a new Royale.

Our Royale Convertible shows how beautifully Olds combines sporty styling with big-car room and comfort. Most luxury in 88 history. Deeply-padded upholstery features the finest of fabrics and vinyls, beautifully complemented by thick carpeting and rich inlays on the doors and wraparound control center. Deep-foam front seat is solid, contoured foam, up to six inches thick—unsurpassed in comfort. Because it's molded to shape, it keeps its shape and support—resists sagging, too.

"If you want the room and weight of a big car, Delta 88 has it. Plus Olds' exclusive 'G-Ride' System."

Delta 88: Not just another pretty car.

Super-smooth "G-Ride" System. Supershocks, computer-selected coil springs, tuned live-rubber body mounts are engineering advances in chassis, suspension and steering that help deliver more predictable performance in unpredictable road situations. Big room, big comfort. Delta 88 is a big, heavy car with a long, 124-inch wheelbase for outstanding roadability. Inside, six adults have room to stretch out and relax. A spring-steel mounted front bumper is designed to absorb minor impacts. It gives—then returns to position.

If a great road car is what you want, test drive a '72 Delta 88—and experience "G-Ride." You'll find roads feel smoother. You take curves easier. Crosswinds are less bothersome. And you'll find many of the "extras" are standard on Delta 88. Power steering. Power brakes with discs up front. Automatic transmission. And big V-8 performance. Delta 88 is everything you need to be: Big. Comfortable. And tough. All wrapped in a design that makes it easy to get into—anywhere.
